THIS Infirmary is governed by a President, Vice-Presidents, and a Committee.

The Committee is chosen annually at a General Meeting, and consists of 36 Governors, who meet quarterly to regulate its affairs.

The Stewards for the Anniversary Dinner are Members of the Committee for the current year.

The Medical Officers, Solicitor, and Secretary, are ex officio Members of the Committee.

A General meeting of the Governors is called as soon after the 25th March, as the necessary arrangements can be made, to receive from the Committee the Report on the past year, and to select a new Committee for the current year.

This Infirmary is supported by Life-subscribers and Annual Subscribers.

A subscriber of 10 Guineas is a Life-governor, and has the right of keeping constantly under the care of the Charity one patient, if of twenty guineas, two patients, and so on in proportion to his subscription.

An Annual Subscriber of one guinea is a Governor, and has the right of keeping constantly under the care of the Charity one patient, if of two guineas, two patients, and so on in proportion to his subscription.

The Patients are divided into two classes.

1st, Out-patients, to whom advice and medicines are supplied gratuitously.

2nd, In-patients, on whom the operation for the Cataract is performed.

N. B. As the Funds are unequal to the support of many Patients in the house, the blind from Cataracts are alone admitted, and these have hitherto been received according to priority of recommendation or application.

The days of attendance are Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, from half-past two to half past four.

Subscriptions are received by the Treasurer at Messrs. Kensington, Styans, Adams, and Co's. Lombard-Street; and by R. Battley Esq. Sec. 79, St. Paul's Church-yard.

TO THE COMMITTEE.

GENTLEMEN,

AS you have resolved to submit this Charity in a regular form to the notice of the public, it will not be foreign to the design, if I should revert to the circumstances which attended its origin.—On the 1st of October 1804 I published a proposal for instituting a DISPENSARY for the relief of the poor, afflicted with Diseases of the Eye and Ear. This proposal was sanctioned by the testimonials of the Physicians and Surgeons of St. Thomas's and Guy's Hospitals, where I had then been engaged in professional studies ten years, during eight of which I had acted as the Teacher of Practical Anatomy. The plan was immediately encouraged—this Charity was instituted under the name of the LONDON DISPENSARY for curing DISEASES OF THE EYE and EAR, and opened for the reception of patients on the 25th March, 1805.

Subsequently to the date of my Proposal, a similar Institution, honoured with the Royal Patronage, was formed and established in Westminster. Although the Prospectus of the Royal Infirmary was not heard of until many months after the Publication of my Proposal, yet it must be admitted that that Institution first appeared before the public in a regular and organized form, and this which is the original, is consequently considered by all who are unacquainted with the facts, as the copy. Apprehensive of this impression, I immediately claimed by public advertisements, which were never answered, the priority of my proposal.

I should be excused for thus obtruding on your notice, if I sought merely the indulgence of honest pride, by maintaining this just claim to respect, but I shall yet more readily be excused, when you reflect, that if I had abandoned this claim, the Public would continue to regard me as an humble copyist.

In the return which I have now the honour of delivering to you, the Cured are arranged under the heads of the Diseases with which they were afflicted. In addition to the observations made on the former Reports, and equally applicable to the present, there is one point on which I must beg the indulgence of expatiating, I mean the adaptation of an Operation on the Cataract to the condition of Childhood, by which I have successively cured, without a failure, thirty-one persons* born blind, many of them in infancy, and one even at the early period of two months. Reserving for another occasion the communication of the method which I pursue for the cure of very young children, I shall no farther compare it with Extraction, than by observing, that Extraction is wholly inapplicable to children, or only fortuitously successful. Those who on all occasions adhere to this Operation, and have never turned their thoughts towards the application of means more suitable to this tender age, have been obliged to wait until the patient has acquired sufficient reason to be tractable—otherwise, when they have deviated from this conduct, the event has afforded little cause of self-congratulation.

* Of this number—two were private cases—of course not included in the Report.

How great the advantage of an early cure, is a question of no difficult solution. Eyes ORIGINALLY affected with Cataracts contract an unsteady and rolling motion, which remains after their removal, and retards, even when it does not ultimately prevent, the full benefit of the Operation. A person cured at a late period cannot overcome this awkward habit by the utmost exertion of Reason, or efforts of the Will. But the actions of the Infant are instinctive. Surrounding objects attract attention, and the eye naturally follows them. The management of the eye is therefore readily acquired, his vision rapidly improves, and he will most probably be susceptible of Education about the usual period.

This process for curing the Cataract in Children, together with other observations relative to the Eye, which I am about to publish as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made, has already been freely communicated to an Individual, and the ample scene of experience which this Infirmary affords, opened to his view from a disinterested wish to promote his professional object. Mr. Adams has since settled in Exeter, and there established a Charity on the model of this Institution. This event I could not refrain from noticing, because it must excite in your minds, and the minds of the Governors, the grateful reflection, that your benevolence has given life and activity to an Institution, which has benefitted Society not only in its own Operation, but by giving direct origin to an establishment, producing its contingent of good in another part of the kingdom. That which was so liberally given in the spirit of private friendship, has been so long withheld from the public in the hope of making it more worthy of their acceptance, and not through a mercenary motive, as some have malignantly observed, or an inclination to boast the possession of a secret! A conscientious discharge of my duty is all my merit—and all my boast, the reward which has been bestowed on it, your applause and the approbation of the Governors.

I am,

Gentlemen,

Your obedient Servant,

J. C. SAUNDERS.

Ely Place, March 25, 1809.

ADDRESS OF THE COMMITTEE.

SIGHT is the noblest of our Senses, the source of a large portion of our Knowledge. Its gratifications are most refined, and approach in a great degree the nature of Intellectual Pleasures. As the possession of this Sense is productive of most exquisite delight, so the loss of it is attended with proportionate misery. All suffer essentially by this misfortune; the learned and opulent, from deprivation of enjoyments for which education and habit have given them a high relish;—the unlearned and poor from inability to labour. No longer capable of supporting themselves, their independence ceases, and they are thrown on the mercy and bounty of society. But he, who is originally destitute of sight, enters the world with an inferior capacity for the acquisition of Knowledge, and can never reach the excellence of his species; he is reduced below the rank which in the scale of existence, the bounty of Providence has accorded to man.

Sympathy for the blind has inspired the minds of the Benevolent to seek effectual means to ameliorate their condition. Their wisdom and munificence have founded Schools for their education. Some have acquired sufficient ability to maintain themselves, and have risen to a state of comparative independence, others, sufficient to contribute to their maintenance, and all, even those who have possessed talents the most moderate, have been rescued from the wretchedness of total indolence. The active principle in our nature, if it remain unexercised, excites a most tormenting irritation in the mind, or subsides in listless apathy. These Seminaries, whilst they release society from the burden of useless members, promote the happiness of the individuals by giving them the means of labour. Thus the weariness of time is relieved by occupation, and their days pass cheerfully away. All that can be accomplished is, however, but an alleviation of misfortune, ample cause remains for the exercise of pity, the Blind can enjoy only a portion of the blessings which their more fortunate Fellow-creatures possess.

These establishments have been noticed in this Address, not for comment but illustration, to shew how much the fate of the Blind has engaged the social feelings of mankind. The good which they confer on society, and the objects of their care, is manifest, and needs no elucidation, nor can the benevolence of their supporters be exalted by praise.

This Infirmary, although it confessedly aspires to a greater good, seeks but an equal share of respect, as it is supported by similar benevolence. To preserve and restore the Sight when endangered or lost by accident or disease, is the object for which it has been established. This Institution therefore endeavours to prevent, and actually does in a great measure prevent, the evil which those are employed in mitigating.

The Committee dwell with pleasure on the facts stated by Mr. Saunders in his letter, that the benefit which the objects of this Charity receive has been extended to others, by the establishment of similar Institutions, which this Infirmary has either excited, or to which it has given direct origin. In particular, they select for observation the Infirmary instituted in the Western district, on the very model of this, and conducted by a gentleman whom Mr. Saunders, induced by private friendship, instructed in the general disorders of the eye, and even in his operation for the cure of children born blind with cataract.

Thus has devolved on the Committee the agreeable task of acknowledging the consequences of his enterprize and liberality, and of representing him not only as a benefactor himself, but the author of good through other men, in this most excellent department of charity—the preservation and restoration of sight, and its communication where it has never been enjoyed.

There is something peculiarly interesting in this discovery, and they feel it their indispensable duty to call the public attention to the fact, that the Operation on persons born blind with Cataracts has hitherto been deferred until they arrive at an age when reason will teach them the necessity of sub- mission. To Mr. Saunders belongs the praise of having overcome the difficulty of the case, by an operation which he has performed with uniform success on Children at various ages, earlier than that at which Oculists have been accustomed to operate, and even on Infants only a few months old.

Since the establishment of this Charity four years have elapsed, a period which may be considered as its infancy, or term of probation. Experience has fully confirmed the preconception which the Committee had formed of the good which an Institution of this nature is capable of effecting. They have witnessed the pleasing fact, that, in extent of benefit, each succeeding year has surpassed the former, and now, with the liveliest satisfaction, they report to the Governors, that within the last year, for a sum no larger than £. 533, one thousand nine hundred and seventy of their suffering fellow creatures have been cured. Where then can humanity contemplate more interesting proofs of distress relieved, than in this example of public benevolence co-operating with the science of an Individual ?

The poor, grateful for the relief which they have received, have, in their intercourse with society, published the fame of this Infirmary, and its greater character daily attracts a greater number of applicants. The Committee gratefully acknowledge, that the contributions of individuals have hitherto enabled them to answer the increasing demands; but as the sphere of action is now considerably enlarged, they must again confide in the generosity and benevolence of the opulent, for supplying additional means to give efficiency to that power and inclination to do good, which has been so well displayed.

In the confident expectation of that support, which the benevolent are ever ready to bestow on any well digested design, undertaken for the advantage of society, it has been proposed to purchase the lease, or freehold of a house in a more public situation, capable of containing a greater number of Patients afflicted with Cataracts, and also other In-patients, the former, and of these only a portion, having been hitherto received into the house.

To carry into effect this enlarged plan, without endangering the permanency of the Establishment, so large a sum is necessary, as would discourage the hope of success, did not the Committee firmly rely on the strength of their cause, and the interest which it must create in the bosoms of the feeling and enlightened. A perusal of the reports will fully justify the adoption of this design, which it is hoped, the assistance of the benevolent will enable them to accomplish, and they will enjoy the satisfaction of having realized the grand object of their desire, when they shall have obtained for an Infirmary, which has already performed such signal service, the greatest possible extent, consequence, and stability.

At a General Meeting of the Governors of the London Infirmary, 18th April, 1809.

SIR CHARLES PRICE, Bart. M. P. PRESIDENT, IN THE CHAIR,

The preceding Reports, Medical and Pecuniary, with the Address of the Committee, were read and approved, and ordered for publication, with a List of the Governors.
